Disclaimer

The National Lawyer Regulatory Data Bank ("NLRDB") contains information relating to public regulatory actions taken against lawyers throughout the United States in state and federal jurisdictions. The information is voluntarily forwarded to the American Bar Association ("ABA") Center for Professional Responsibility for inclusion in the NLRDB by reporting authorities designated by the highest court of each jurisdiction and by participating federal courts and agencies. No information forwarded from any unauthorized source is used. The information reflects only public, not private, regulatory actions. Because of the voluntary nature of this service, the NLRDB makes no claim that its records represent every public regulatory action taken and reinstatement issued. An inquirer should verify the current status of the lawyer with the originating jurisdiction before relying upon the information furnished. The ABA cannot ensure that matches between names requested by an inquirer and ABA lawyer records are indeed the same lawyers; the inquirer must make that independent determination.

Please note that information in the NLRDB is private and must not be forwarded to other persons, entities, agencies or jurisdictions. Forwarding NLRDB information to any party other than the ABA constitutes an unauthorized use of the personal information contained in the NLRDB. If you have any questions, please contact the NLRDB Attorney at 312/988-5290.
